ELI AND DUKE

A sunny day, a brand new friend, and a garden to explore. ✨

Meet Eli & Duke

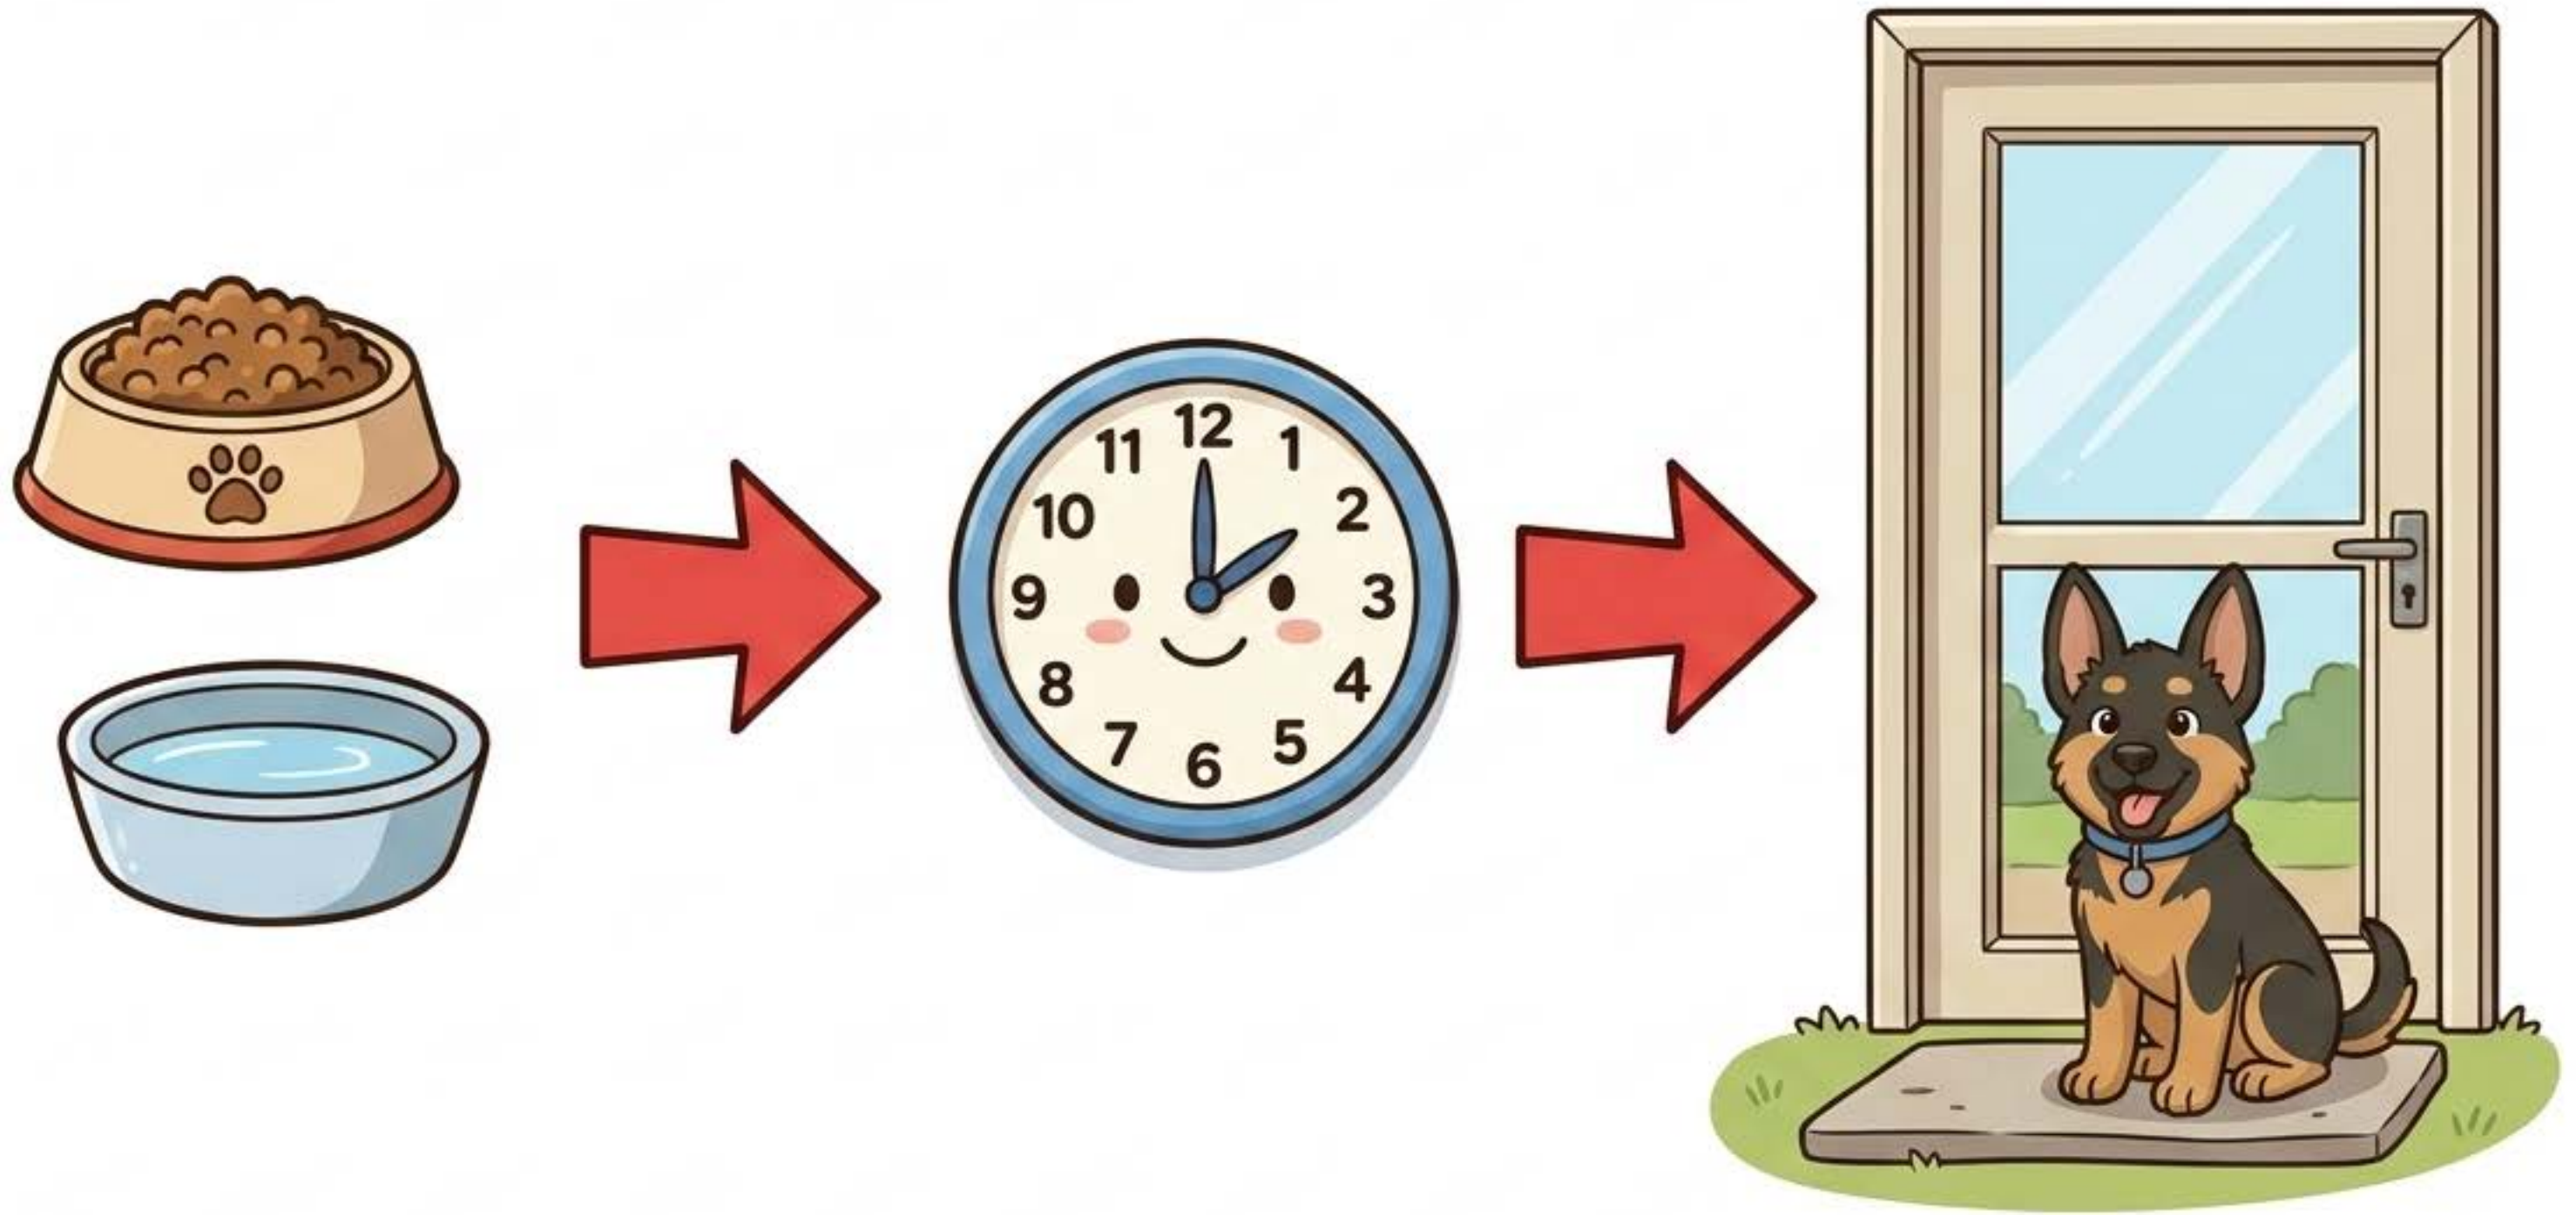

This is Eli, and this is Duke — his brand-new 8-week-old puppy. Today, Eli teaches Duke where to go potty!

The Perfect Den

A crate should feel like a cozy den — just big enough to stand, turn around, and lie down. ✨

THE GOLDEN SCHEDULE

After Duke eats or drinks, he goes outside. Little puppies need a trip out at least 3 times in 2 hours! ✨

The Magic Words

CAPTION: Pick one phrase — ‘Go potty!’ — and say it every time.
Same words, every trip.

Same Door, Same Spot

Same door, same spot, every time. The more Duke practices the routine, the faster it sticks. ✨

UH OH! AN ACCIDENT

The only time to correct Duke is while it's happening — never after. ✨

THE CALM SCOOP

Stay calm, scoop Duke up to stop the pee, and carry him outside to finish where he should. ✨

NEVER PUNISH AFTER

Find a mess later? Don't scold — Duke won't understand why. Just clean up and keep going. Patience wins. ✨

Eli's Secret Log

Eli writes down when Duke eats, drinks, and potties — even accidents. Patterns appear fast! ✨

Reading the Signs

CAPTION: Sniffing? Circling? Whining at the door? Those are Duke's signals — time to head out, quick!

RAIN OR SHINE

Sun, rain, or stars — the routine never changes.
Consistency turns practice into a habit.

Nighttime Rules

At night, Duke sleeps in his cozy den. One calm trip outside before bed — no playing, just potty.

We Did It!

After a few days of practice... Duke's got it!
Great job, Eli. Great job, Duke!
